

The Collected Digital Artwork of Allen W. Yoakum 2011 to 2013

My Thanks Hello Viewer, I want to thank you for your time and money for viewing and buying my collection of digital artwork. You will find you like some images and hate others that is the way of art. But I just wanted you to know how much I appreciate your time and support. I know there are sites on the internet that sell prints and other items with the image of various artworks on them. I will not be doing this. I am going to give you the viewer a copy of all the artwork in this book on my website. That website will be given at the end of the book. There you will find all the artworks for you to copy and use to make a print or put on your computer as a wall paper. I hope you enjoy my artwork now and in the future as a print or put on another item. Have a great day and thank you again for your support.

Allen W. Yoakum May 2, 2013 What Art Means to Me and How I Create It

Deep down an artist sees the world through their eyes no matter if they are painting from life or painting from inside their head. This is no different from my approach to painting or writing for that matter. When I see something like an abstract or a collage I see them my way. This is natural of course and necessary to make great art or any art worth looking at in life. Doing an exact copy of say a horse in a field is nothing more than Xerox machine for an artist. Take Van Gogh arguably the best impression artist of all times according to some people. While Van Gogh painted almost exclusive from life he did the process in his own way. This is how I look at an abstract or a still life. While the collection of shapes and colors seem random they are not and even a still life of bottles and boxes is a set of bottles and boxes the drawing or painting is how I see them. So when you see my digital art or even my paintings these are lenses of how I see the world. In a way you the viewer are in my mind at the exact moment

I paint be it digitally or on canvas. My hope is that while I am painting say a picture of someone surfing it is not an exact copy. I feel the whole point of painting is to put out original artwork that expresses the soul of the artist and hopefully the viewer sees this impression of the soul and mind as well. So deep down it is all about taking an image in your head or even life and making it your own not only for the viewer but for yourself the artist. This is the point of art. Allen W. Yoakum
